OBITUARY.

Leroy Sanderson.

Last Saturday afternoon friends and neighbors gathered with the family at the late home of Leroy Sanderson to pay our last respects to a life-long resident of our village, and as we laid his body away in beautiful Hillington memory struck the chords of other days and the vibrations made music that mixed strangely with the sorrow and sympathy of the present. We saw a home of years ago presided over by a good wife and mother of many virtues, from that home we saw go forth a beautiful and noble young woman to successfully win her way in the battle of the world and finish her work in early life, and why so early we may never know here. The wife and mother passed away mourned by all, and the husband and father, after a long and suffering illness, now lies beside her in the restful city of the dead. But two remain now of that one-time happy and united family, Miss Katharine Sanderson, the daughter, and Miss Gertrude Foote, the niece, and to them our heartfelt sympathy is freely offered.

Leroy Sanderson was born in Morris 74 years ago, the son of Rufus Sanderson. He has always lived here. He learned the machinist's trade and was a fine mechanic, working for many years at his trade in the cotton factory. For a long time Mr. Sanderson has been subject to severe attacks of what was termed neuralgia of the stomach, and he has for years been practically incapacitated from hard work. During the past year or two his trouble has developed and finally with other complications setting in it was seen this spring that he was surely failing. This he has continued to do and finally became unable to take food. For some weeks he has been confined almost wholly to his bed, and death came to his relief on Thursday, July 28th, about noon.

Geo. A. Sanderson

Geo. A. Sanderson died at his home in Albany Wednesday, Jan. 17, 1917, aged 53 years. For a long time his family and friends have watched with sorrow the breaking down of a strong man, afflicted with a disease incurable (arterial sarcotosis), and the inevitable end brings sorrow to the hearts of hundreds of his acquaintance living in a circle reaching wide beyond his native town and his adopted home city.

Mr. Sanderson was born in Morris, the elder son of the late Legrand Sanderson. He attended the Morris school until he was 17 years old, when his father died and George took upon his young shoulders his father's business in drugs and groceries and for nineteen years made a success of it. During his last years in that business he put upon the market some proprietory remedies and especially pushed into the trade a headache remedy which has become widely known. In October, 1900, he closed out his store in Morris and turned his attention entirely to the manufacture and sale of his special remedies.

In 1910 he removed to Albany where he has since continued his business and was active in it as long as his health admitted.

In 1886 Mr. Sanderson married Miss Jane Thurston, daughter of the late Joel Thurston of New Lisbon, who survives him; his mother, Mrs. Edna Sanderson, also survives her son, and William Sanderson of Depew is his brother. To these near relatives all the people who knew the deceased so long and so well extend their deepest sympathy. Mr. Sanderson was a communicant of Zion church, Morris, and for some years while living here was Superintendent of the Sunday School.

His remains were brought to Morris on Friday and the funeral was held at the home of his mother on Saturday, Rev. G. J. D. Peter of Gilbertsville, officiating. Among relatives in attendance from out of town were William Sanderson of Depew, Harvey I. Russell and wife of Cooperstown, Mrs. Roxey Alger, Isaac Rife and Donald Lull of Oneonta, Arthur Shaw of Mt. Upton, Mrs. Palmer of Colorado, and Miss Ruth Duroe of Hudson.

Mrs. Sanderson returned to Albany this morning accompanied by her sister, Mrs. William Lull, who will spend some weeks with her.

Andrew D. Jackson, a native and honored citizen of the town of Butternuts, died Jan. 15th, in his 91st year.

PIONEER RESIDENT GONE

Herbert M Bronson Passed Away at His Home in Albion Thursday

Last Thursday, January 23rd, the death summons came to H. M. Bronson of this city, and another pioneer builder of the city and community passed away. He had been in failing health for a number of years and for some tme his condition had been such that he was entireley helpless.

Herbert M. Bronson was born at Sherburne, New York, October 12, 1847. He was educated at Utica, New York, and located at Oneonta, in the same state, where he was engaged in contracting and building. September 13th, 1871, he was united in marriage to Miss Lenora Spencer. In the spring of 1880 he moved to this city, and engaged in business until 1905 when failing health compelled him to give up work of all kinds.

Mr. Bronson was a member of the Albion Lodge No. 78, A. F. & A. M., and also of the Eastern Star of Albion Camp No. 551, of the M. W. A. During the early years of his residence here he filled a number of municipal offices and was always actively interested in every movement for the betterment of the city. Every good cause in the communty could depend upon his support and it was with regret that those who had labored with him, saw him forced from the field of action by ill health.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Nellie Andrews, of Minneapolis, a son, A. L. Bronson and a daughter, Mrs R. E. Smth, both of this city. His wife passed to the great beyond in December, 1917.

Funeral services were held from the family residence Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Main of the Methodist church, and the body laid at rest beside that of his wife, in Rose Hill cemetery.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Roxy B. Alger

Mrs. Roxy B. Alger, widow of the late Jerome Alger, and a woman well known to all the older residents, passed away at her home, 41 Academy street, early yesterday morning, her death being attributed to obstruction of the bowels. She recently returned from a visit with her sister at Morris, during which she was ill. She did not improve and despite the efforts of two physicians, who were called, her condition remained serious and she pased away. The funeral services are to be held from her late home on Thursday at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot at Oneonta Plains.

Mrs. Alger was a daughter of the late Moses and Sally (Shellman) Spencer, and was born in the town of Davenport, Nov. 4, 1838, coming to Oneonta to reside with her parents when a child. She was united in marriage in the very room where lies her body now, in June, 1862, with the late Jerome Alger and she has always resided in Oneonta since that day. His death occurred nearly 30 years ago. Surviving her are two sisters, Mrs. Edna J. Sanderson of Morris and Mrs. H. I. Russel of Cooperstown, and one brother, Conrad Spencer of this city.

Mrs. Alger was a woman of rather positive convictions, which she freely expressed, the very ruggedness of her character appealing to many who knew her. She was an exceptional cook and many who read these lines will recall appetizing meals she prepared for them in years gone by. She had long been a member of the First Baptist church and was widely known in the city and county.
